Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District, ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-bone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.
KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a very deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.
Prices $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont.

About the English Sparrow.

"What sort of a bird is this?"
"This is an English sparrow. He cannot carry off a lamb, like the eagle, nor is he provided with teeth and claws like the tiger, but he leaves his mark all the same."

"How did he get here?"
"A philanthropist brought him over from England."

"What is a philanthropist?"
"He is a cross between a lunatic and an idiot."

"What did he want to bring the sparrows to America for?"

"Because he hated the country and wanted revenge. It wasn't enough for him that we have small-pox, yellow fever, cholera, droughts, floods, cyclones and forest fires and grasshopper plagues."

"What are the chief merits of the sparrow?"

"His beautiful voice and lovable nature. His song is so much sweeter than a file rasping over cast-iron that people have died after hearing it."

"How does he employ his time?"
"In screaming, fighting and voting early and often."

"Where does he build his nest?"
"In the cornices of houses. If he could have the use of 1,000 trees rent free he would turn up his nose at the offer. He couldn't damage a tree any, but he can make it necessary to paint a house every month."

"Of what is his nest composed?"
"Of everything he can handle, except old oyster cans and empty beer bottles."

"Does the hard-hearted citizen ever destroy those nests?"

"He does. When his family clothes-line, or crow-bar, or long-handled shovel is missing he pulls down a nest and recovers the lost article."

"What does the poor sparrow do then?"

"He rebuilds."

"Can he be discouraged?"

"If his nest was pulled down 15,000 or 25,000 times he might commence to feel down-hearted, but those who have routed him out 500 or 600 times have not seen him even change countenance."

"What other birds does he agree with?"

"The buzzard and the polecat. He is too proud to take up with every stranger who comes along. He has driven away our robins and bluebirds and larks and chickadees, and even the hens are looking for another opening."

"Would it be wicked to kill one of these sparrows?"

"Awfully wicked. The philanthropists would raise such a howl that the killer would have to skip the country. Besides, you can't shoot 'em, they won't be poisoned and no one ever yet trapped one. A man down in Ohio thinks a blow with a barn door might fetch 'em, but it is as yet an untried experiment."

"That is all for this time. Let us now lay away our books and sit on the steps and listen to the ravishing melody of the sparrow's evening song."—Detroit Free Press.

"What do you think of a strong government?" inquired a New Haven man of his neighbor as they both leaned against the fence smoking their evening cigars. "I think," said the neighbor, looking cautiously around, "that women are best calculated to administer such a government." And a sharp, shrill voice from behind the blinds called out: "Samuel James Jenkins, what are you thinking of, talking the whole night away? It's time honest folks were abed."

"I agree with you," was the remark of the original speaker, and they both slid into their respective gates with becoming meekness.

Salt Wells.

In the city of Syracuse, New York, there is a large tract of land which, since it was ceded by the Seneca Indians in 1778, has been reserved for the manufacture of salt. Salt is procured from four sources: from the ocean; from deposits of rock, or fossil salt in the ground; from salt lakes and from salt wells.

It is the latter that yield it on this reservation. They are not simple excavations, like garden wells, but are iron pipes from eight to ten inches in diameter, reaching from a depth of from 300 to 450 feet. The brine fills them to within about eighteen feet of the surface of the ground, and then it is pumped up the rest of the way and distributed in reservoirs. It contains about 170 parts of salt in 1,000 of water, or sixty-six parts more than the ocean and fifty parts more than the Great Salt Lake.

The brine obtained at Syracuse is of one quality, but it gives two qualities of salt by two different processes of evaporation. When coarse salt is wanted the water is exposed to the sun in shallow vats, fitted with covers to protect it from dilution by the rain, and after some days the salt appears as a deposit. But when refined salt is required, the brine is purified by a chemical process, and evaporated over furnaces under cover.

The solar salt, as that made in the sun is called, is used in preserving pork, etc., but that made in the kettles, block salt as it is called—a "block" being a row of kettles—is further refined for the dairy and the table. After it has been washed it is dried in long iron tubular cylinders, which revolve over furnaces, and keep it in constant motion until it is as parched and as hot as desert sand, the vapors passing from it through steam vents.

Finally it is ground, that for the dairy being pressed between granite rollers, while that for table use is pulverized in an ordinary flouring mill, which leaves it as soft and as white as the driven snow of April.—Youth's Companion.

Night Air.

An extraordinary fallacy is the dread of night air. What air can we breathe at night? The choice is between pure night air from without and foul air from within. Most people prefer the latter—an unaccountable choice. What will they say if it proves to be true that fully one-half of all the diseases we suffer from are occasioned by people sleeping with their windows shut? An opened window, most nights in the year, can never hurt any one. In great cities night air is often the best and purest air to be had in the twenty-four hours. I could better understand shutting the windows in town during the day than during the night, for the sake of the sick. The absence of smoke, the quiet, all tend to make the night the best time for airing a patient.

One of our highest medical authorities on consumption and climate has told me that the air in London is never so good as after ten o'clock at night. Always air your room then, from the outside air, if possible.—Farm and Fireside.

—A good joke is told of a certain Dublin professor—a stickler for ventilation. Being recently put into a room at an hotel with another guest, he asked the latter to raise the window at night, as the air was so close. "I can't raise it," said the guest, after working at the window for a while. "Then knock a pane of glass out," said the professor, which was done. After a while the professor got up and broke another; then he was able to sleep. But in the morning he discovered that he had only broken into a bookcase.

The Secretary of the Treasury states that the number of revenue officers and employes in the United States is four thousand two hundred and fifty-five, and that their yearly salaries amount to the sum of five millions one hundred and four thousand dollars. Such armies of officeholders as this country supports are sufficient to make any nation poor.

Says the Louisville Commercial: Dime novels, like coal oil lamps, continue to do work. The latest recorded victim of the yellow backed novel was a fourteen-year-old boy of New London, who shot himself during a period of mental aberration caused by reading dime novels. Who is to blame for this? If parents do not furnish good reading matter the youth of the country will supply the deficiency in the way best calculated to please themselves. The brain must be fed. It hungers as well as the body, and only attention to this fact upon the part of parents will remedy the evil.

WEALTH FOR KENTUCKY.

A New Inspection Law Threatening to Drive Cincinnati Tobacco Men All Over to Covington.

Louisville Commercial.

CINCINNATI, March 10.—There is an excellent probability that the tobacco business of Cincinnati, which amounts to $10,000,000 per year, will be driven to Kentucky. There are seven warehouses in this city whose future locations depend on the action of the Ohio Legislature in voting on the Cochran bill, which provides for a change in the system of inspecting leaf tobacco. The present system is acknowledged through the country as the standard, and has given more general satisfaction to buyers than any yet adopted. In consequence the market has steadily advanced during the past ten years, until the tobacco business of the Queen City has assumed a magnitude of $10,000,000 per annum. The present tobacco inspector, who is appointed by the Cincinnati Tobacco Association, who is allowed one assistant, is placed under a bond of $20,000 for the faithful discharge of his duties, which include the seven warehouses located here. He is held responsible for the proper inspection of all leaf tobacco shipped to this market, and accordingly a uniform system of inspection is one of the advantages of our tobacco dealers.

The Cochran bill provides for the appointment by the Common Pleas Court of one inspector for each warehouse, and the moment this provision is enforced the uniformity which at present exists, and which has been the great secret of the wonderful development of the Cincinnati market will be supplanted by as many distinct systems as there are warehouses. The effect of this will be to compel the warehouse proprietors to seek equitable laws at the hands of Kentucky, and several important accessions to the business of Cincinnati will be made at the expense of Cincinnati. The provisions of the Cochran bill are practically the same as that agitated two years ago, but which met with defeat at the hands of the Legislature. The measure is the work of Brown county parties, who would seek to cripple the trade of Cincinnati by securing through their representative, Mr. Cochran, the passage of a bill for the enhancement of their business by inflicting a permanent injury upon the tobacco interests of Cincinnati, which amount to more in a week than those of Brown county do in a month. It is feared by some dealers in this city that the bill will become a law. In speaking of the matter, Mr. F. A. Prague, of the firm of Prague & Matson said this morning.

"I am afraid the bill will pass. You see the Legislature is composed largely of farmers, or what they call the 'Granger element,' who think that the people in large cities even steal from them the clothes they wear, and are prejudiced against their interests. The Cochran bill is the work of this class, and its passage being urged by grangers, appears among the things probable."

"What will be the effect if the bill passes?"

"Well, the effect will be to drive the warehouses to the other side of the river. Fortunately, we have Covington to resort to. It is only a five minutes' walk from Cincinnati, and where one foot of property can be obtained here, ten can be gotten there for the same price."

"Will all the warehouses remove to the other side?"

"Probably not all, but the most of them will."

"The laws over there are satisfactory?"

"Yes, perfectly. There is no danger of Kentucky passing such a law. The Legislature at Frankfort did enact a measure similar to this some years ago, but it proved so detrimental to the tobacco interest that the Louisville dealers just arose and had it crushed."

Inspector Mallon is the name of the man to whom English journals give the credit of having laid bare the machinery of Irish assassination and vindicated the good name of the Dublin police. They compare him for acuteness, patience, and self-restraint to le Pere Tabaret, and says he is a greater adept in the detective art than any imaged in fiction.

The Berlin Elevated railroad, crossing the city from East to west, is seven miles long, and cost about $16,000,000. It is chiefly used by third-class passengers for short distances, and the gross receipts for the first year will be but 3 1/2 per cent. on its cost.

Notice.

E. W. FITZGERALD, Captain.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Flemington (N. J.) Democrat writes: "After suffering the loss of our poultry for several years, through a disease known as 'Chicken Cholera,' we have at last succeed in finding a preventive which is effectual, and I will enclose it for the benefit of the readers of your paper:

- 1 oz. copperas.
- 1 oz. sulphate of soda.
- 1 oz. mandrake.

Mix well together and add just enough to color the water in all of the drinking vessels.

THE sad intelligence was received in Maysville yesterday of the death at Indianapolis of Mrs. Wood Noel, at half-past nine o'clock that morning of diphtheria. Mrs. Noel was the youngest daughter of Mrs. Francis D. Browning and was a general favorite in this community where she had lived the greater part of her life. She was born August 4, 1853, and was married to Mr. Wood Noel, of Indianapolis, on the 27th of November, 1877. A child about four years of age survives her. The remains will be brought to this city and interred at the cemetery to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock from the residence of Mrs. Browning, after services by Rev. J. K. Pace, of the Baptist Church.

St. Patrick's Day.

To-morrow, the 17th inst., is St. Patrick's Day. All of our readers have heard of this day, but perhaps not all have read of the man in whose honor the day is celebrated, St. Patrick, the apostle and patron saint of Ireland. The place of his birth is uncertain. O'Curry discovered in the British Museum a manuscript tripartite life of the 6th century, which affirms that St. Patrick was born in 372 at Bonavens Tabernia, thought by some to be the modern Boulogne. Others maintain that he was born near Kilpatrick, in Scotland, in 373. He died in Down, Ulster, March 17, 493 or 495. The name of Patricius was bestowed on him in Rome by Pope Celestine his original name having been Scuccath. At the age of 16 he was carried captive to Ireland by a band of marauders, but after six months escaped to Scotland. Carried off a second time, and again escaping, he resolved to become a missionary to the Irish, was ordained in Scotland, and after a long preparation was consecrated Bishop. Having previously, according to some accounts, visited Gaul and perhaps Italy, he passed over to his chosen field of labor about 432, and preached the gospel with such extraordinary effect that although not absolutely the first to introduce christianity into that country, he has always received the credit of its general conversion. He baptized the Kings of Dublin and Munster, and the seven sons of the King of Connaught, with the greater part of their subjects, and before his death had converted almost the whole island to the faith. St. Bernard testified that he fixed his metropolis see at Armagh, it appears that he appointed several Bishops, with whom he held his councils to settle the discipline of the church. He is said in his old age to have written his "Confession," but its authenticity is considered doubtful by many. It may be found in Sir James Ware's edition of the works of St. Patrick (8vo, London.) The Roman Catholic Church keeps his festival on March 17th. Patrick devoted the lands bestowed on him to the foundation of the churches, of cloisters for both sexes, and numerous monastic schools, which flourished during the next three centuries. He was also zealous for the suppression of slavery, which was one of the great incentives to the piratical expeditions in his day. It is a popular belief in Ireland that St. Patrick banished snakes and frogs from the island.

Order of March.

The line of march by the various Irish societies and the Emmet Rifles to-morrow will be as follows:

Hacks with Guests.
Haucke's Brass and Reed Band.
Emmet Rifles.
Father Mathew's Total Abstinence Society.
Sodaloty B. V. M.
Fifth Ward Band.
St. Patrick's Benevolent Society.
Line of March—Down Third to Wall, down Wall to Second, down Second to C. B. Pearce's residence and counter-march. Up Second to Limestone, down Limestone to Front, down to Market, up Market to Fourth, east on Fourth to Plum, down Plum to Bridge, down Bridge to Second in the Fifth Ward, thence to Hall's shop and counter-march; down Second to Bridge, on north Bridge to Third, down Third to the church on Limestone and break ranks.

Lecture.

Rev. Father Brady, a distinguished member of the order of Jesuits, will lecture at the court house to-morrow evening at seven o'clock, on the subject of "Intemperance." Father Brady is an eloquent speaker, a man of rare culture, and a most entertaining lecturer. Those who fail to hear him will miss an intellectual treat.

THE FLOOD.

We was crowded in de cabin,
Not a nigger cared to sleep,
For de water in dat mansion
Was at least ten inches deep.

Hit was Uncle Josh's cabin,
In de de bottom by de creek,
And de water'd been a risin'
Like de debil fur a week.

Dar was Bill and Si and Moses,
From the flats on 'tother side,
Wid de wives and dogs and chillun,
And a lot o' folks beside.

Well, dat boat kep' gittin' deeper,
Till she felt like floatin' off;
"Man, de ladder," yelled de Cap'n,
"An' we'll clim' into de loff."

So de bed was lef' afloatin'
As de chillun clum' de stah,
But de res' left sorter 'spicuous,
Dat de ladder wouldn't beah.

All de cats was on de close line
An' de dogs was in de chiah,
Whild de men was in de winders
An' de wimmen eberwhahs.

In de middle of the mansion
On an empty barr'l o' flour,
Ole Aunt Hanner had been sttin'
Sorter cramped fur 'bout a hour.

Now, Aunt Hanner was a whopper,
An' de barr'l wasn't stout,
An' she 'gin to feel a 'spicion
Hit might leak dat nigger out.

An' de barr'l was a swampin',
An' 'twas Hanner's turn to go,
Fur 'twas awful tiresome settin'
Like dat barr'l was afo'.

So Aunt Hanner sorter settled
Fur to spring about a yard,
But she neber teched dat ladder,
Fur she settled most too hard.

Den she know'd dat she was fasten'd
As dat barr'l sloshed about,
An' she paw'd and snorted scandalous
Fur her head and feet was out.

An' dey hed to split dat barr'l
'Fore dey got dat nigger out,
Den we got her in de attic
An' de niggers 'gin ter shout.

But it warn't no time for 'ligion
Fur de cats and dogs was dar,
An' de dogs was barkin' dreadful,
An' de cats jus' snatchin' hair.

But de water kep' a risin'
An' de darkies 'gin ter talk,
Kinder low; fur dat ole cabin
Felt jes' like a fishin' cawk.

All de barr'ls an' de boxes
An' de hen coops lef' de sho',
An' de cart an' sled was shakin'
Like de thought they'd better go.

When dat little gal o' Josh's
Holler'd as she grabbed his hand,
"Daddy! dars a log a comin',
Gosh! de chimbl'y's j'ined de band."

Den de wimmen got to screechin'
And de men felt kinder skeered,
So dey punched right fro' de claphoard
An' dey y-lled till dey was heard,
By de white folks dat was comin'
For to fish them niggers out.

An' we crawled right fro' de skylight
An' we hustled in dat boat,
Jes' in time to see dat cabin
Down de Hier river float.

NEWS BREVITIES.

Charles T. Arnold, of Lewis county, W. Va., committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor.

Several Chicago physicians have been detected sharing with druggists the profits of prescriptions. Hieroglyphics were used to inform the compounder when to charge extortionate prices.

The Italian Minister of Finance, replying to some parties desirous of having a lottery at the coming exposition at Turin, declared that he would not authorize any lotteries for any purpose.

The existence of a branch of the "Black Hand" Society has been discovered in the northern part of Portugal. Several of the members have been arrested, and important papers seized. Troops were sent to the locality.

After keeping their magnificent salons in Rome closed for twelve years, the Prince and Princess Barberni opened the Barberni Palace this season with a children's ball, to which members of the aristocracy of every political color and tint were invited. In accordance with a peculiar custom of Barberni, there was not one flower to be seen in the rooms; it was also noticed that, in true old Roman style, nothing but the purest wax candles were lit.

The great case of Belt against Lawes is not yet dead, but merely sleeps until the application for a new trial is decided. It is known that up to the day when the jury gave him $25,000 damages Mr. Belt had paid to his solicitors $25,000, and on account of his own costs $10,000 more. Sir Hardinge Gifford, who led for him, had $1,500 on his brief and a refresher of $300 a day, making in all $15,000 for one advocate for the trial. Mr. Russell, for the defendant, had $750 on his brief and $250 a day, Mr. Webster $500 and $150 a day, and Mr. L. Crevard $375 and $100 a day. These figures will make legal mouths water.

Austria supports 70 schools of agriculture with 2,200 students, and 174 agricultural evening schools with 5,500 students. France has 43 farm schools with thirty to forty pupils to each. The Government pays the board of each pupil, and allows him 70 francs a year for clothing. Paris has three department schools of agriculture and a National Agricultural Institute. Germany has over 150 schools of agriculture, horticulture, arboriculture and viticulture. Their first experimental agricultural station was established in 1852; upward of 60 are now in operation, each one having a special line of research.

There is grave discontent among the tenantry—a superior class—on the estate of the young Marquis of Downshire, who owns the most valuable rural property in Ireland. They lately held a meeting whey they pledged themselves not to support the present Tory members, Lord Castlereagh and Lord A. Hill their landlord's uncle, and passed a resolution of gratitude to Mr. Gladstone. The rent roll of the Irish Downshire estates is some $350,000 a year and the Marquis, when he comes of age, will have had a minority of eighteen years. As he also has an English estate, the accumulation of money should be very large.

WHEN the blood is loaded with impurities, and moves sluggishly in the veins, an alterative is needed, as this condition of the vital fluid cannot last long without serious results. There is nothing better than Ayer's Sarsaparilla to purify the blood and impart energy to the system.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

—The capacity of the ice-houses along the Hudson River is more than 1,000,000 tons.

—The tonnage transported on all the railroads in the United States in 1881 amounted to 350,000,000 tons, which Poor's Railroad Manual estimates, at the too low average of $50 a ton, would be worth $18,000,000,000.

—It is estimated that the South has this season paid to the North $55,000,000 for wheat, $50,000,000 for corn, $72,000,000 for meats, and about $25,000,000 for hay, butter, cheese, oats, apples, potatoes, etc.—Chicago Times.

—It is pretty well settled that a healthy man who lives to be 70 years of age, in his life eats 7,800 pounds of meat, 72 barrels of flour, 1,500 pounds of butter, 987 dozen eggs, 800 pounds of cheese, 163 bushels of potatoes, and 1,700 pounds of lard.

—Since the first oil well was opened in 1859 the product of the wells has added $1,500,000,000 to the wealth of the United States in the value of the crude oil and its products. To-day the product of these wells lights the cathedrals of Europe, the mosques of Asia, the pagodas of Japan, and even the huts on Africa's sunny soil. Its exports are over 1,000,000 gallons a day.—Boston Post.

—The great cattle range of Wyoming under the military protection of Fort McKinney is about 800 miles square. In this area are now grazing 300,000 head of cattle, worth $27 per head, amounting to $13,500,000, to which can be added the value of the horses and ranches of the cattle-men and the farmers, and the stock of the grangers, making at least $15,000,000 of property under the protection of the post.—N. Y. Herald.

—In this country, with a population of 50,000,000, there are 4,201,362 persons above the age of twenty-one years who cannot write. Of this number 2,056,463 are whites, 1,747,900 negroes, about 300,000 Indians and 100,000 Asiatics. It is estimated that in almost every State in the Union, and in the country as a whole, the balance of political power, so far as numbers are concerned, is or can be in the hands of the illiterate voters.—N. Y. Sun.

—Arizona covers an area of 72,000,000 acres of land, four-tenths of which is mineral-bearing. It is larger than New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware combined. Since 1849 there has been extracted from seven States and Territories the sum of $2,100,000,000, for which California is credited $1,148,307,731; Nevada, $469,125,943; Idaho, $71,543,901; Oregon and Washington Territory, $48,637,251; Utah, $55,848,831, and Arizona, $17,930,175.—Chicago Times.

Squaring the Circle.

James Morton, a Philadelphia mathematician, claims to have solved the problem known as "squaring the circle." The solution of this problem of finding the exact area of a circle has occupied the attention of mathematicians from time immemorial. Many claimed to have performed it, but their demonstrations have always failed to stand the test. The nature of the problem places it outside of the domain of arithmetical calculation, but notwithstanding this admitted fact, the ratio between diameter and circumference has been carried out to over six hundred decimal places. So, by geometrical methods, Mr. Morton thinks he has accomplished the quadrature of the circle. His solution, put in the form of a proposition, is as follows: "The square of the diameter of any circle is to its area as the perimeter of a square described on the diameter of the circle is to its circumference; or conversely, the area of any circle is to the square of its diameter as the circumference of the circle is to the perimeter of a square described on its diameter."

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

MESSRS. J. C. AYER & Co., Gentlemen:

Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

cleanses, enriches, and strengthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to resist and overcome the attacks of all Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions of the Skin, Rheumatism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.
